VIRGINIA RAILROAD NEWS HEARD IN NORTH CAROLINA.

What Was Told a Dispatch Correspondent. An Assignment-Dwelling Burned. Minor Notes.

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.) RALEIGH, N. C., March 18.—J. C. Brewster & Co., of this city, dealers in hardware, assigned to-day to A. W. Shaffer. The firm is one of the best known in the State in that line, and has had extensive plumbing contracts. E. B. Englehard, of the firm, told your correspondent to-day that inability to make collections made the assignment necessary. He says the assets are $30. The business of the firm will not be at

"Let me tell you some news," said a railway official to-day. "In a much shorter time than people have any idea of there will be a new line of railway from Richmond to Atlanta. Did you know that the Virginia and North Carolina railroad from Petersburg to Ridge way had just been bonded for $12,000 per mile? Work is to begin at once on the line from Monroe, N. C., to At-lanta, Ga., and combine the lines from Richmond to Petersburg, Petersburg to Ridgeway, Bidgeway to Kaleigh, Ra leigh to Hamlet, Hamlet to Monroe, and Monroe to Atlanta, and see what a straight line you get. Then there will be another through line, the same as that above named, save that at Hamlet it will extend to Cheraw. S. C., and thence via Augusta, Ga., make southern connections. The Hamlet-Cheraw link is known as the "Palmetto" road, and is twenty miles long. It is completed to the bridge over the Pee-Dee river, a mile this side of Cheraw, and early this spring will run into Cheraw. Augusta is its objective point. This link, as well as the one from Petersburg to Ridgeway, is owned by Mr. Moncure Robinson, who will get the right of way over the Raleigh and Gaston and Baleigh and Augusta roads. You may not believe it, but I really expect to see a double-track road between Richmond and Raleigh in less than four years. The new combinations will startle the public when the news is made public. The people, not only of Raleigh, but of all this section, will be pleased to be in closer connection with Richmond," The Cape-Fear and Yalkin-Valley road has just completed a branch line to the factories on Deep river.

INCREASING THE POPULATION. North Carolina receives perhaps as little immigration as any other State. yet, as the census returns show, its increase of population is remarkable This must needs be the case in a com munity of people living so largely on agricultural life, and of course a home life. There is no State with a larger proportion of children per family, it is also said, and no doubt there is good ground for the assertion. In Harnett county Margaret McNeill has just given

A VALUABLE QUAERY.

Your correspondent was at Granite yesterday and inspected the extensive granite quarries there operated by Lineham and Winder. Two hundred and fifty men are employed. Just now 350 car-loads of heavy stone is being prepared for the bridge over the Pec-Dec river on the bridge over the Pec-Dec river on the Palmetto road, a mile this side of Cheraw. The stone-crusher of the Raleigh and Gaston road is at this quarry. So far thirty miles of the road's ninety-seven have been thorough-ly ballasted, and the rate of progress now is fifteen miles a year. This is likely to be increased, perhaps doubled, in the next six months. ROMANCE OF "THE MIKADO."

The Daughter of Ex-Senator Arkell Married for Love.

A Chicago special says: John C. Ilse, the superintendent of the Arms Palace Stock-Car Company here, and Miss Laura Arkell, daughter of ex-Senator James Arkell, of Canajoharie, N. Y., were married at the residence of J. W. Skinkle, in west Monroe street, last evening. The union is the culmination of a pretty little romance. Mr. Ilse of a pretty little romance. Mr. Ilse is of respectable German parentage, and began life as a clerk in a dry-goods shop in Canajoharie. Webster Wagner, the palacecar man, took an interest in the hardworking young man, and made him a conductor in his employ. When the Arrus Company was organized Ilse put his savings in its stock, and last year became its superintendent. Before he left Canajoharie Miss Arkell and he became acquainted through the medium of an amateur "Mikado" company of which they were members. The big papermaker frowned on the intimacy, and refused to let his daughter marry Ilse. Late last summer the Arkells made up a party which passed through Chicago on a long excursion. While stopping over here Miss Arkell me Mr. Ilse, and they determined to marry. The Senator objected, and finally, it is said, disinherited his daughter. But her uncle, Leonard Carter, who died some time ago, had bequeathed her $20,000, and this she secured control of when she became of age a few days ago. Escorted by another uncle, John Forsberg, Miss Arkell came to Chicago, and so she and Arkell came to Chicago, and so she and Mr. Ilse were last evening married and have gone South on a bridal tour. It is not announced that Senator Arkell sent any wedding-gift.

BURGLARS' VISIT. They Sweep Mrs. Hicks-Lord's Sideboard of Silver and Pocket a Gold Music-Box.

(New York Sun.)
A robbery committed on Monday night at Mrs. Hicks-Lord's splendid Washington-Square mansion was made public yesterday through an advertise-ment offering a reward for the return of the property. The burglar or bur-glars, from a balcony on the Washing-ton-Place side of the building, forced their way through a window and found themselves in one of the drawing-rooms. There was no lack of bric-abrac and valuables there, but the thieves contented themselves with taking a small gold music-box with a mechanical singing bird in it. The other things were too fragile and hard to get away with safely. Passing into the dining-room, an extension-room on the parlor floor, the marauders found things more to their mind. The sideboard was liberally loaded with solid silverware, and this appealed directly to their taste. They swept it clean of solid stuff, and got away at once. There are no signs to indicate that they visited any other part

The robbery was discovered by the servants at 6 o'clock on Tuesday morning, the first time that floor had been visited by any of the household sine 11 o'clock at night. The property stolen consists of a set of five silver trays or waiters and a coffee-pot, teapot, and slop-bowl to match; three pairs of silver sugar-tongs, a plain silver plate and a plain silver tray, all solid; and the music-box. They were valued in the aggregate at $2,000.

Through a down-town business-man Mrs. Hicks-Lord advertised a reward of $500 for the return of the silver set un broken, and $25 and $15 apiece for the recovery of separate pieces, the large pieces at the first-named figure and the smaller ones at the other. A special reward of $25 was offered for the music-

It is on the upper corner of west W. asing on Lace, froming the park, and was formerly occupied by General McClellan. Mrs. Hicks-Lord has refitted as well as refurnished it.

Question of Time-Masonic Work-Other News Notes -Political Matters.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] PETERSBURG, VA., March 18, 1887. Judge Bernard, of our Hustings Court, has just delivered an opinion in the case of George J. Rogers's creditors es. D. B. Dugger, trustee, et als., argued before, him several weeks ago, gued before, him several weeks ago, which decides a very interesting question of law. The decision is to the effect that a judgment obtained during the term of the court dates back to the first moment of the first day of said term, and hence that such judgment takes precedence of a deed of trust admitted to record on said first day—admitted to record just before the hour of the meeting of the court. The probability is that an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court.

A PERJURER AND SWINDLER. One of the Witnesses Against Mrs. Surratt in the Totle.

A Paltimore telegram says: Benjamin Spandauer, one of the most immin Spandauer, one of the most important agents in procuring the conviction of Mrs. Surratt, and who has since been charged with manufacturing the testimony given on that occasion, was this morning arraigned before Justice Hobbs on the charge of endeavoring to impede the administration of justice. The charge grew out of Spandauer's alleged connection with the suit of Mrs. Johanna Jensen for a divorce from her husband, John Jensen. The case was decided in favor of the wife, the judge awarding heralimony. Spandauer was a principal witness for Jensen, but Judge Fisher would not accept his testimony, pronouncing it a tissue of lies from beginning to end.

At the trial of Mrs. Mary Surratt in May and June, 1865, Spandauer and May and June, 1865, Spandauer and Louis J. Weichmann, the latter's evi-dence being regarded as corroborative, testified that Mrs. Surratt, who kept a boarding-house at which Wilkes Booth, Harrold, Spangler, and others met, had been frequently in the room where the conferences of the conspirators were held, and thus connected her with the plot. She was adjudged guilty by the Military Commission, and her execution took place in the old arsenal at Washington July 3, 1865. For a number of years succeeding the war Spandauer and Weichmann were lost sight of, Nothing more was heard of the latter until his death in Philadelphia in great destitution two or three years ago. Spandauer reappeared in Baltimore about four years ago. After a few months he went to a Ger-man named Heinrich Muhla, who lived on East Madison street near Bond, and exhibiting an English newspaper, which Muhia was unable to read, explained to him that he (Muhla) was one of ten heirs to an estate in Germany or England valued at about $3,000,000, and agreed to collect his share for a certain percentage. He so impressed the old man with his honesty that Mr. Muhla advanced him $100. Spandauer kept up the bleeding process until he had succeeded in getting about $1,500 out of his victim. Mr. Muhla finally became convinced that the estate was a myth, and had Spandauer arrested.

On the trial Spandauer pleaded guilty and was sent to jail for three years.
He was released about six months ago. Spandauer's picture is in the Rogues Gallery, and his record is said by the police authorities to be "as crooked as a serpent on a rock."

STATEMENT OF REV. R. M. PICKENS. GREENVILLE, S. C., June 21, 1886.

GRENVILLE, S. C., June 21, 1886.

The Swift Specific Company:

Dear Sirs,—About four years ago I was attacked with what the physicians pronounced Neuralgie. Rheumatism, accompanied with Erysipelas. My appetite failed me entirely, and I had an intermitting pulse and very irregular pulsations of the heart. A terrible pain soon came into my chest and shoulders, and I became to helpless that I could attend to no business at all. The pains were moveable, and would sometimes pass from one part of my body to another. Finally the crysipelas broke out on my left hand and arm and produced much swelling. I was affilied for eighteen meants, and of course used a great many kinds of medicine, but nothing gave me relief. Friends finally persuaded me to try Swift's Specific, which I did. I noticed a decided improvement while taking the first bottle, and content, when I found myself entirely recovered, with no sign of the disease left except a stiffness in my hand, resulting from crysipelas. While taking the medicine I gained on an average two pounds of flesh per week. I think your S. S. a valuable medicine, and frequently recommend it to the afflicted.

Very truly yours,
